INSURANCE

Make sure you are insured on all levels including; Malpractice, Liability, Commercial and Disability. Heaven forbid, if someone makes a claim that you injured them during a treatment, your malpractice will cover it. If someone trips and falls in your office, liability insurance is responsible. If a storm blows through and your roof caves in and destroys all your office furnishings, commercial insurance will cover that. If you fall from a ladder while hanging Christmas lights, your disability insurance will cover that. DO NOT be cheap and skate around these coverages, you will want to have sufficient insurance coverage to protect your finances and future. I use NCMIC for both Malpractice and Disability, State Farm for Liability/Commercial. I don't care who you choose for coverage, just get it!

Make sure you are covered with both Liability and Malpractice Insurance.
